SHORT HISTORY OF THE AREA:

The Mazomanie Area has an unusual and exciting early history. This area was settled by more than 900 pioneers coming here through the British Temperance and Emigration Society beginning in 1844. Most of them had such occupations as clerks, shoemakers, watchmakers, and manufacturers of nautical equipment - quite different from their chosen occupation here, agriculture. Some of them settled in the now deserted Village of Dover and it came to be the trading center and post office for a large area.

When the railroad reached this far west of Madison, a dispute of the price of land for a depot put that building on the present site in what is now Mazomanie. The engineers laying out the railroad saw an excellent opportunity to form water power by diverting the water from the Black Earth Creek into a lake against the bluff and thereby providing power for running a mill. This power made it possible for Mazomanie to have electric street lights before any of the surrounding villages including Madison. It also allowed the village to engage in all manners of manufacturing, turning out such products as REAPERS, FANNING MILLS, CABINETS, TELEPHONES, GAMES AND KNITTED GOODS.

A spur railroad was run to Sauk City, opening up that market for produce and trading.

The village boasted of an opera house called "Schmitz Hall" which was located above what is now "The Whistle Stop Cafe". It was here that the Ringling Brothers of Baraboo put on their very first show. There is a marker on the 18 Brodhead Street site.

A 150 page "History of the Township and Village of Mazomanie" was printed in 1900 by William Kittle. Reprints of that book are available through the Historical Society for $3.50. Other brochures and information are also available there. The museum is open Sunday afternoons from Memorial Day to Labor Day or by appointment.

Welcome!

The Mazomanie Volunteer Fire Department welcomes you to the Village of Mazomanie.

We are strictly volunteers but we are rewarded by helping when needed. We spend about 2-4 hours of our time per week to learn fire fighting tactics and the operation of the specialized equipment we use.

The first Monday of each month, we have maintenance on equipment, cleaning up the fire station, and a short business meeting. The third Monday is our drill night. Occasionally, special drills will be scheduled when needed.

We have a great group of volunteers and always are looking for more. There is a special need for people who are in the village during the day. If you are interested in volunteering some of your time in helping our village, contact me or any fireman, or feel free to stop by the station any Monday meeting night.

Sincerely,
Mark Geisler
Fire Chief
